Only 55's and over need apply to live in this rarely available lifestyle complex, but anyone can buy it as an investment, and considering how tough it is getting for older people to find a cost effective accommodation solution, then this could tick all the boxes. So whether you, or your partner, are over 55 and you want to buy and reside, or whether you have an elderly family member you wish to see well cared for in a rental situation, or whether you want to buy now at today's prices then rent out and live in it yourself in years to come, then this property is the solution you have been looking for.
